Ed. CHIEF.—Some of the farmers commenced sowing wheat last week, but I think they almost wish they were in the grainery to-day.

Corn is on the raise, worth fifty-five cents at Wells.

Mr. Hoffman has commenced building his new store and dwelling house at Wells.

Mr. Dickson and Lewis, from Salem Kansas, gave a course of lectures at the Thorne school house, last Saturday night and Sunday, the house was full each time. Their subject was Spiritualism.

Mr. Corigan and Mr. Cossilo pulled up stakes and left the country last Monday night. Reports says they left with mortgaged property, plenty of debts in memory of their going away.

Mac. Robinson and Ed. Davis left for the mountains last Monday night.

Mrs. Macey from Blue Hill has been visiting at her daughter's, Mrs.
Acree. Snowing and blowing is the order of the day.

The CHIEF is gladly welcomed.

J. C. A.

W. A. McKelighan will speak at Blue Hill Saturday evening March 4th.

The Woman's Suffrage Society will meet at Mrs. Sherwood's next Friday afternoon.

Rev. J. W. Kimmel, Eng. Lutheran minister of Tekamah, Neb., will preach in the Congregational church on next Sunday March 5th, at 11 o'clock a. m.

The saloons in Red Cloud were closed last Tuesday by order of the town trustees. We presume a license will shortly be granted and the selling of liquors resumed.

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Allen, of Denver, who are visiting with our townsman Mr. Perkins, are the happy parents of an eleven pound baby girl which made its appearance early last Tuesday morning.

Mr. W. J. Anderson, of Hillsdale, Iowa, and patentee of "Anderson's Perfect Weather Strip" is in town introducing his useful invention, and, by the way, is meeting with good success having already taken over 35 orders.

There was a wagon load of flour stolen from the Cedarville, (Kan.) mills, recently. The supposition that our south end contemporary got it, we believe to be entirely unfounded, as he hasn't been to Kansas for some time.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at the residence of Mrs. Robert Mitchell next Friday afternoon. It is desirable that all the members be present as there is business that has been deferred from time to time that must be attended to at this meeting. SEC.

Dr. Hall and family returned from the east last week. The Dr. has had the advantages of a thorough course of medical lectures in New York during the winter, and will now settle down permanently at Red Cloud, to the practice of his profession.

We publish a letter from Mr. Tulleys this week, and while we do not see that it proves or disproves anything, we do not intend that it shall truthfully be said of us that we ever tried to take an unfair advantage of a man or refused him a hearing when he asked it.

Mr. Knight of Inavale informs us that Mr. Poppe, the gentleman who commenced the erection of a cheese factory at that place, died recently, at Columbus Nebraska. Many of the farmers in the vicinity of Inavale had already purchased a number of cows with a view of furnishing milk to the factory, and they are anxious for some one to come forward and complete the work begun by Mr. Poppe.

The B. & M. townsite company have purchased the farm of W. E. Jackson, south of town, with the exception of about three acres, and we understand will build their depot, round house and other improvements some distance west of the present depot grounds. The cause of the proposed change in the program seems to be the difficulty of getting a title to the Kaley land which is now in probate.

Money Made Easy.

Messrs. Anderson & Davis, of Hillsdale, Ia., are here exhibiting Anderson's Weather Strip. It consists of an iron threshold with an adjustment all wind and rain from passing under doors. All who have houses with floors unprotected will do well to examine it and see the merits of the invention. Any person desiring a lucrative business would do well to improve the present opportunity of securing the privilege of disposing of them in this section. They are without doubt the best weather strip that has ever been offered to the public.
The invention is here and can be seen for the next few days on the streets or at the Boy's Home.

J. C. A.

A reader of the CHIEF who unfortunately lives in the haunted land east of the Mississippi river, writes us to know if there really is such an animal as the jack-rabbit, and says that he has always considered said animal "a myth, having an existence only in the minds of travelers and story writers."

Wrong, my friend, all wrong. The jack-rabbit is an inhabitant of western Nebraska and other portions of the "Great American Desert." He is often called the mule-eared rabbit, and by Mark Twain, Henry Ward Beecher, Joe Garber and other cowboys he is familiarly spoken of as the "jack-rabbit." The jack-rabbit is identical with the British hare, except that he is larger. He weighs, when fat from twelve to twenty pounds, and his ears measure from tip to tip about sixteen inches. He does not burrow in the ground. He lies under a bunch of prairie grass, but is very seldom found at home, his office hours being between sunset and sunrise. He is to be found during the day on the open prairie, where he feeds on the tender buffalo grass. The jack-rabbit has several enemies, among which are the coyote and a certain class of so-called business men indigenous to western towns, who having more dogs than brains, try to run him down. He has two ways of protecting himself against his enemies. One way is to squat when he suspects danger and fold his ears along his sides. By doing this his back is exposed, the color of which harmonizes with the brown of the withered grass. The other plan that he uses when discovered and pursued is to create a rennetous between himself and pursuer. In giving his whole attention to this matter when necessary, he is a stupendous success, and earned to a fault. When disturbed he unlimbers his long legs, unfurls his ears and goes off with a bound. He generally starts after running about 100 yards and looks back to see if his pursuer is enjoying the chase as much as himself, then he leaves for parts unknown.

There are many fast things, among which we might mention a note running in the bank, but nothing to equal the jack-rabbit. An unfounded rumor gets around pretty lively, and could not keep up with him for two blocks. When an ordinary cur dog tries to expedite a jack-rabbit route, he makes a humiliating failure of it.
He only gives the rabbit gentle exercise. The latter merely throws up his ears, and under easy sail, skim-sleazily along, tacking occasionally to give the procession time to catch up. But if you want to see velocity, urgent speed and precipitated haste, you have only to turn loose a greyhound in the wake of a jack-rabbit.
Pursued by a greyhound he will let himself out in a manner that would astonish a message on a western telegraph line. If he is a rabbit that never has had any experience with a greyhound before, he will start off at an easy pace, but as he turns to wink derisively at what he supposes to be an ordinary yellow dog, he realizes there is a pace in nature hitherto unknown to him, and the look of astonishment, alarm and disgust, as he furls his ears and promptly declines the nomination, is amusing. Under such circumstances he goes too fast for the eye to follow his movements, and presents the optical illusion of a streak of jack-rabbit a mile and a half long.

Farmer's Alliance.

PLEASANT DALE, Feb. 27, 1882.

The Argus is not surprised to learn that two or three well-wielded political dead beats are located in Webster county. We are not a little surprised of know who he refers to. Certainly not the Pleasant Dale Alliance, No.
360, from the fact that they have been organized for the past month, and now 15 good solid members are in thorough working order, with not one tramp, sordid, dead-beat, or even an office-seeker in our midst. But as we remarked before, we consider the source and know that he is a little off his beat, when he can't substitute a lie when the truth would be much better. Probably the poor bewildered "crank" has reference to the Argus clique, or ring, he also says they have abused and misrepresented the editor of the Argus. We don't know what they could have done this, unless some one has called him an honest man, or a gentleman, and I am sure we have failed to see any such misrepresentations as that. He continues to harp on the B. & M. We have never said one word against the B. & M.

Let him come out and defend Jay Gould, Vanderbill Co., the Standard Oil Co., the great coal monopoly, and all other similar organizations. The people of the United States contribute to the Standard Oil Company, under compulsion, and without a shadow of consideration, $45,000,000 annually.
We pay at least 15 cents per gallon more than they bring.

The New Jersey Central, Lehigh & Wilkesboro, New York & Erie, Delaware, Hudson & Canal Coal Co., Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Pen-sylvania, Philadelphia & Reading companies compose the great coal monopoly, and regardless of supply and demand fix prices to suit themselves. Every person who burns coal pays double its value when computed upon the basis of the supply and the cost of mining it. The properties owned by these monopolies are valued at $1,000,000,000. These have been watered until they represent a face value of $250,000,000, upon which every consumer of coal is compelled to pay dividends. These are startling facts and facts for the contemplation of the American people, who are dreaming of prosperity and security, while a strong and growing coal monopoly is making a free booty of the liberties and making equality before the law a farce, and a fizzle. Daniel Webster said, "The government is a trust for the people, and the tendency of the law is to create a rapid accumulation of property in the hands of a few to render the masses of the people poor and dependent." FARMERS' ALLIANCE.

A Statement from Mr. Tulleys.

Ed. CHIEF.—On my return home after an absence of two or three days, I was somewhat surprised to learn of the reports in circulation concerning myself, originating partly perhaps from a misapprehension of the report made by me to the Board of County Commissioners. I desire therefore to make a plain statement of the facts.

In my report I made no distinction between cash received and what I had been allowed in accounts against the county.

In 1880 I collected in cash $1777.14 the balance $1135.50 being in allowed accounts. In 1
